

Dear Sir

My name is Richard Lawrence and I live in a rural area of Virginia. Because of the high unemployment in my area I must travel over 60 miles to the Washington DC area for work. Because of the mountainous terrain it is very difficult to receive a constant signal of radio stations. I purchased satellite radio to help me better plan my commute by listening to instant traffic and weather, to avoid grid lock and for the quality of programming that satellite radio has to offer. Please do not take away this valuable service from the paying public.

The National Association of Broadcasters should not be allowed to stifle this new technology or any other technology that would benefit the American public.

Thankyou

Richard A Lawrence
